The founding of the Sisters of Saint Joseph

Sister Mary of the Cross

The Play

Mary Mackillop fought throughout her life to create an independent order of Josephites, free from the control of Bishops and dedicated to serving the poor. An independent order sacred to their original VOWS.

The performance focuses on Mary Mackillop's determination – political, practical and spiritual – to fulfil her dream. It is the story of the sacrifice and dedication of a great Australian pioneer.

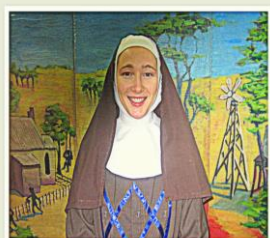

The dramatisation utilises two actors and is one hour long, the script is adopted from various source books, and includes many of the thoughts and feelings of Mary Mackillop. It is an excellent resource and can also serve as an introduction to any exercise or discussion on pioneers, women in society and religious studies.

Feedback

St. Pius X College: Just a quick note to congratulate your troupe on such an excellent performance. Mary Mackillop came alive to our students. We are so appreciative to have available such talent and enthusiasm in such a presentation. Keep up the good work.

St. Edmund's College: I was very happy with the show. I look forward to future productions.

Caroline Chisholm Catholic H.S: The performers were highly professional - very dedicated. They gave time to questions and answered them well. Thank you for a fine performance.
